Dr. Huntington's Amendment Permitting the Innecent Party to a Divorce for Adultery to Remarry Defeated -Nom-Inatien of Army Chaptain Pierce for Bishop of North Daketa Not Confirmed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14. The Convention f the Episcopai Church got through a mass of important matters to-day. The Bishops took action on a number of canons for which there was felt to be urgent need and submitted the results to the House of Deputies for concurrence. They also reached what is considered a solution of the Hawaiian difficulty that will meet with he approval of both contesting parties

The House of Deputies, in morning session, sitting again as a Committee of the Whole, adopted the canon on marriage of livorced persons as proposed by the Bishops, rejecting the amendment of Dr. Huntngton of New York, and will undoubtedly later formally ratify it sitting as a House

The Rev. Dr. M. McKim of Washington naintained that the proposed canon was in indirect contravention to all the tenets of the Anglican Church and was practically the adoption of the position of the Roman atholic Church. He urged the convention not to be stampeded by a cry that something must be done, but to do nothing that was not wise, right and reasonable.

Not a single speaker, so far, he said, had attempted to show that the proposed cenon would restrain or reduce divorces. He therefore appealed to the convention not to vote for a measure which, if it re-duced divorce at all, would do so by increas-

The Rev. Dr. George C. Hall of Delaware supported the canon. He called attention to the huge proportions of the social vice. Over 600,000 young men in London, he said, live in vice. In one city in this country it was said by the Chief of Police country it was said by the Chief of Police that 20,000 women lived on money given them by licentious men, not to speak of the fallen women involved. He continued:

In that same city there is one divorce daily. What does that mean? It means that we are fast getting into that slimy slough in which the wrath of the Almighty is inexorable. Then consider the awful crimes, by which families are kept small. I'nless the Church of the living God takes action and does its best to stop this tide of sin Anglo-Saxon civilization is doomed. Wilhelmus Minderse of Long Island opposed the canon. He said that there was direct conflict between it and the canon on the discipline of divorced persons. He declared that if the Church desired to make its voice heard in protest against the social

George F Henry of Iowa said he had hanged his mind. He came here in favor if some such canon as this adopted by he Bishops, but he now favored the Huntgton amendment. Francis Lewis of Pennsylvania then arose rancis Lewis of remayivana the arose to close the debate, summing up the committee's position. He said:

"It is my duty to reach the right conclusion upon an exceedingly important matter. We, who favor the canon adopted by the Bishops, are not the sole advocates of the preservation of the family life of the United States. We are all equally interested. As to our adopting the position of the Roman Catholic Church, we do forbid some marriages as they do, but as for assumers their resulting as a whole there is nothing. ing their position as a whole there is nothing in it. We are accused of departing from the universal position of Protestant churches. If that is so, will anybody tell me what that position is? There never was a party to a divorce action, no matter how filthy the details, who was forced to resort to a civil court for remarriage. There is always a church somewhere.

"I agree that the innocent party in a suit has a right to remarry and the committee would be glad to grant them such a right in the Church if any way can be found by which far more injury will not be done than good. If we knew how to draw a canon allowing the innocent party to be ing their position as a whole there is nothing

"Only 4 per cent. of divorces are given on the grounds of adultery. A self-respecting woman would rather die than spread a charge on the records to be a stigma on her name, and rightly she refuses and yet you would compel her to do so. As for that 4 per cent. it is made up largely of people who would believe little in the Protestant Episcopal Church. Protestant Episcopal Church.

am opposed to special legislation. It is a sort of a gold brick amendment. Under it you could not marry any persons at all, if you had to rely upon the records of the courts, which you could not procure. I would not advocate this canon if I did not believe it reflected the mind of Christ, so far as we are capable of interpreting it. In times of trouble martial law is produinted. claimed. Does not the present emergency demand this legislation? The committee advocates this canon for your sake and my sake, for your family and my family. Rightcousness exalteth a nation, but this sin, this filthy sin of divorce, is the curse of

At the conclusion of this speech there At the conclusion of this speech there was an evident desire to reach a vote immediately. The Huntington amendment was lost by 172 to 135. The canon in its original form before the Committee of the Whole was adopted by a vote of 182 to 158. This canon, which now only needs formal approval by the House of Deputies to become a law, reads as follows:

caused the Bishops to name him for the new post.

The objection to him in the House of Deputies was his comparatively short experience in ecclesiastical orders and the fact that, while his services in the Philippines are admitted by all to be worthy of the highest praise, he has never had any experience in the work of organization such as the Bishop in a new district will be called upon to perform.

The other four nominations were confirmed with very little discussion. They are as follows: For Bishop of Porto Rico, the Rev. Dr. William Cabell Brown of Brazil; for Bishop of the Philippine Islands, the Rev. Charles H. Brent of Boston, for Bishop of Olympia, the Rev. Frederick William Keator of Dubuque; for Bishop of Hankow. The deputies then adjourned to to-morrow morning.

The deputies then adjourned to to-more we morning.

The House of Bishops to-day adopted six provisions of canon and referred them to the other House, recommitting all other proposals to the Committee on Canons to be brought up three years hence. The Bishops also reached a conclusion regarding the Hawaiian Bishopric. As soon as Wishop Willis and the Hawaiian Church have compiled with certain conditions to which they have assented, and which bear have complied with certain conditions to which they have assented, and which bear principally upon the financial status of the Church there. Bishop Willis will resign and the Church will be placed in a separate Bishopric under control of the American Church. Bishop Willis will have an honorary seat in the House of Bishops.

Concerning the Mexican situation, the House of Bishops appointed a committee of three to consider erecting discusses in #### CONGREGATIONALISTS COUNCIL. Lively Debate on the Influence of Theological Seminaries.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 14. The National Council of the Congregational Church at its riennial session to-day discussed at length and in a spirited manner the question of relationship between the theological semnary and the church. The Rev. William A. Bartlett of Chicago spoke on "Rightful Claims of the Church upon the theological Seminaries," and President George F. Moore of Andover Seminary talked of "Rightful Claims of the Theological Seminaries upon the Church.' The first speaker expressed the sentiment that the tendency of some of the eminaries is to train the mind rather than the soul and heart of the student and that many a young man out of the seminary is lacking in essentials that go to make a successful pastor. President Moore said, in behalf of the theological seminaries, that they can neither multiply nor magnify the men who are preparing for the ministry, but must take such material as is offered and fashion it as best they can. The singing teacher cannot make the voice; his duty is to train it. Fewer young men than ever before, in proportion to the number who seek other fields of Christian usefulness, are entering the ministry, he said. Frequently the seminaries turn away applicants who have not the mental training capacity to warrant their entering the but the usual result in such cas ministry, but the usual result in such cases is that the men in question jump over the ollege and seminary into the pulpit.

The Rev. W. A. Waterman of Terre Haute, nd , said a theological seminary ought to have at least as much moral integrity as a peanut vender. He did not believe in seminaries dominating the church. The Rey. W. E. Brooks of South Paris, Me., Rev. W. E. Brooks of South Paris, Me., believed in scholarship and was willing that theological professors should examine the Bible with microscopic care, but if they attempt to remove the very foundation stones which hold men's faith to God, take away the living Christ and the personality and power of the Holy Spirit they should be compelled to step aside and found a seminary of their own, where they can teach what they please.

The report of the Committee on Councils and Pastorates, containing a severe criticism of the prevailing systems of installing pastors by the sitting of ecclesiastical councils, started another debate, which was promptly cut short by a vote to refer the report to a committee. The addresses in the evening were by President Hyde of Bowdoin College on "The Church as a Factor in the Country Town," and the Rev. Samuel G. #### WOMAN DENTIST ASKS DIVORCE. Bowen Denies He Ever Married Her-A Decision in His Payor.

In the suit of Mary Kelly Bowen against Samuel S. Bowen for absolute divorce, Supreme Court Justice Dickey in Brooklyn vesterday denied a motion for $30 a week alimony and $250 counsel fee. The plaintiff alleged that she and the defendant entered into an agreement to live together as man and wife two years ago and that subsequently they so lived at 352 West Forty-eighth street, Manhattan, where they were known as Mr. and Mrs. Kelly. they were known as Mr. and Mrs. Reby She said the defendant told her he was in volved in a law suit over a mine and did not want the marriage made public, She said he was worth $300,000 and had an income of $20,000 a year.

Counsel for the defendant denied the marriage and said their relations were simply meritricious.

"They first met in a street car." said counsel, and spent the night together. They then agreed to live together, and the defendant furnished the plaintiff with the defendant furnished the plaintiff with money in order that she might furnish her studies in dentistry. The checks he advanced to her were indorsed by her with her maiden name. She was admitted to practise last May and then she wrote him a letter in which she agreed to return him the money he had advanced. This letter was signed 'Dr. Mary Kelly.'

Counsel said that subsequently she met with an accident in a car and brought suit.

Mrs. Harrison and her daughters, the Misses Marquand, intend to sail for Engand on the Oceanic to-morrow. She has been visiting the country house of an old friend, Mr. Frank Storrs, at Rye Lake, White Plains. On Sunday, so the story goes, Mrs. Harrison came down to this city to meet her brother, Mr. Ogsten, who was to take her out to Morristown, N. J.

It was just after she had left the train at Morristown that Mrs. Harrison missed her jewelry. She at once notified the local police, who put their best sleuth on the case. A tall, thin man with fair hair and a dark suit and a short, stout woman with dark hair and a light dress had occupied seats near Mrs. Harrison in the same car. The Morristown sleuth started working on that clue.

Mrs. Harrison came back to town and reported her loss at Police Headquarters. Capt. Titus sent two of his men to look for the tall, thin man and short, stout woman.

Mr. Storrs and Mrs. Harrison were on the Capt. Titus sent two of his men to look for the tall, thin man and short, stout woman. Mr. Storrs and Mrs. Harrison were on the lookout for them, too. That is, that's the way the story was told. Capt. Titus denied yesterday that the matter had been reported to the Detective Bureau, while, as for the Morristown police, they said they had never heard of such a thing.

"There wasn't any robbery," said Mr. Storrs over the telephone last night when asked about the loss. "The jewels were found."

"Where?" he was asked.

"Why, in the house where they were lost. I really don't see why so much should be made of this. Everything's all right now."

Mrs. Harrison was formely Mrs. Marquand and was prominent in society in Baltimore. Several years ago she mar-ried Graeme Harrison, an Englishman, and went to live in England. She returned to this country last spring and spent last summer at Newport. To-morrow she sails to rejoin her husband in England.

PARALYTIC TWICE ARRESTED. Policemen Thought Mr. Dartington Drunk Physician Secured His Release.

Frederick G. Darlington, a civil engineer of 13 East Twelfth street, who suffers from partial paralysis, was arrested twice yesterday through no fault of his own. About o'clock yesterday afternoon he went to the side entrance of the Fifth Avenue Hotel with a rough-looking individual whom Mr. Darlington had met in the street and asked to assist him in walking. The doorkeeper saw the rough-looking man and refused to allow him in the hotel. As the doorkeeper couldn't understand what Mr Darlington said in explanation, he called in Policeman Schlottman. The policeman arrested Mr. Darlington on a charge of disorderly conduct. There was an explanation in the Jefferson Market police court and Mr. Darlington was released.

they should be compelled to step aside and found a seminary of their own, where they can teach what they please.

The Rev. Dr. Philip S. M. Oxom of Springfield, Mass., deprecated the narrowing of either church or seminary by a dead hand. The ministry as a whole, he said, never occupied so high a level of truth, morality, intelligence and earnestness as to-day. A Massachusetts delegate remarked that if the instructors of a seminary founded and endowed by a man now dead, have sworn to teach the truths which estipulated in his gift should be taught, they ought to have manhood enough to fuffil their promise or step out and make room for those who can.

The Rev. James E. Smith of Minneapolis said:

PRODS MAYOR ABOUT MURPHY Merchants' Association Demands Hearing Quotes Shepard Means to Go to Odell.

Mayor Van Wyck has not taken the rouble to answer the letter sent to him on Oct. 3 by the Merchants' Association, wherein the association demanded that Commissioner Murphy should be put on trial for misfeasance in office. Yesterday the association sent another communication, somewhat more peremptory than the first, to the Mayor. D. Mr. Dresser wrote deeds of city officials. Mr. Dresser wrote:

No rational person will contend that executive discretion is rightfully exercised if it suppresses proper inquiry into alleged official misconduct, debars evidence that is tendered in good faith, and overrides a fundamental political right which is one of the foundation stones of good government.

An eminent jurist has recently characterized such abuse of executive privilege as a "monstrous proposition that a man in public place, sworn to serve the whole people and vested by law with ample power, is to be blind to corruption, oppression or wrong of any character, if indeed it be practised by members of his own party."

The refusal by Commissioner Murphy to accord a proper hearing to this association is well described by this language, and we have, therefore, appealed to you as his superior. accord a proper hearing this language, and we have therefore appealed to you as his superior for redress of this wrong. We have not presented this request as a plea, but as the assertion of a right and we now hereby renew our demand that we be accorded a hearing upon this issue and be given an opportunity to prove and support the charges by evidence We, therefore, earnestly request that you will at once reply to this and our former communication, and inform us of your intentions respecting our proper demand.

DORIS KINGSLEY

By EMMA RAYNER, "In Castle and Colony," etc.

A novel depicting with truth, simple and exact, the life of South Carolina Colonists in that interesting period just before the Declaration; and painting with all the skill of the highest literary art the play of human emotions, in a most thrilling drama of love, adventures and war.

It is a masterplece of historical fiction. The prettiest printing, the most artistic illustrations and best binding possible, is the fitting dress given to the book.

The Supreme Sacrifice; Or, GILLETTE'S MARRIAGE.

By MAMIE BOWLES.

This is one of the best novels of the year, and is bound to create controversy on the subject of marriage. It is intensely interesting and without a -mentioning our name or that dull page. It is a book that holds the reader spellbound, and it leaves a lasting of some other reputable firm, impression. Published simultaneous with the London edition.

Cloth Bound, $1.50.
